recycling and climate change

In the vast majority of cases, recycling waste is more efficient than producing new products from virgin material. This results in lower emissions of those green house gases that cause climate change. Through the activity undertaken by Valpak, you have directly supported the recycling of 71 tonnes of material which saves approximately 43 tonnes of carbon dioxide the most prevalent green house gas. For more information, please visit www.valpak.co.uk

Your contribution to the PRN system has led to 7,199,103 tonnes of packaging being recovered in 2010.
